

MONTHLY NEWSLETTER - June 28, 2024

Orange County Government received $219 million in federal disaster recovery funding (CDBG-DR funds) to help communities in hard-hit areas recover from Hurricane Ian. Orange County aims to provide our residents and community partners with the most up to date information as the County moves forward with its implementation of the CDBG-DR programs.

To do so, a monthly newsletter containing the latest CDBG-DR updates will come out on the last calendar day of each month. You will also be able to access the newsletter on our website listed below. We encourage you to share this newsletter with your friends, family, colleagues, and anyone else who, you believe, might benefit from it. This month, we are focusing on hurricane preparedness for businesses.

Please visit our website at www.ocfl.net/CDBG-DR for more information about the CDBG-DR Program, timeline, and other related information.

HURRICANE PREPAREDNESS FOR BUSINESSES

Hurricanes are not only natural disasters that affect homes, but they also significantly impact businesses and their infrastructure. According to National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), Hurricane Ian was the costliest hurricane in Florida's history and the third costliest in United States history, causing over $112 billion in damage.

Unfortunately, businesses that are forced to close following a disaster run the risk of never being able to open their doors again. This is true no matter how small or large the company is. The impact of a hurricane can be unpredictable; however, there are critical steps that can be taken to protect your business from nature's fury. Having a hurricane preparedness plan is one of the most important elements of recovery.

LET'S GET READY FOR HURRICANE SEASON!

It's Hurricane Season, and Orange County Government is here to ensure you have the information you need before, during and after any severe tropical system affects our community. A variety of tools are available online, on the phone, or on your mobile device to help better assist you.

Hurricanes can bring hazards in many forms to coastal and in-land communities. From high winds to tornadoes and flooding, hurricanes can present a variety of severe weather impacts. Your ability to plan ahead will be your best protection against injury and damage to your home and property.

STEPS BUSINESSES CAN TAKE TO PREPARE

(taken from Alert Media)

Before the Storm

- Track the storm's progress from sources such as the National Weather Service (NWS).
- Plan evacuation routes.
- Create an emergency communication plan that includes everyone in your organization (including remote staff) and any third parties that would also need this information.
- Determine a secondary location where business can resume if the main offices are unusable.
- Designate safe sheltering areas for employees.
- Back up and turn off server equipment.
- Inspect structures such as roofing, gutters, windows, storm shutters, etc., and repair if necessary.
- Make sure you have emergency funds available to assist with immediate post storm business needs.
- Check your business insurance coverage. This may include policies that cover damage to property, lost income, and other economic losses caused by a hurricane.
- Disconnect electrical mains in all locations to avoid an electrical fire.
- Double-check that all emergency supplies, backup emergency generators, and emergency kits are readily available and in good condition.

During the Storm

- Observe the storm's movements from a safe place using radio and the internet, if possible.
- Shelter in place and stay safe.

After the Storm

- Continue with the hurricane watch, and pay attention to any warnings from local authorities.
- Reach out to all of your employees and perform a post-storm status check - find out if your people are okay, if they need help, or if they are in a position to provide help to others.
- Initiate your recovery plan and restart business operations once everyone is accounted for.
- Offer support to all employees who might need support beyond immediate disaster relief.
